

A PLAQUE AT THE COLUMBINE MEMORIAL READS,

“It brought the nation to its knees, but now that we’ve gotten back up, how have things changed; what have we learned?”

Twenty years later, we have experienced additional shootings at twenty-five schools, a Las Vegas concert, a Tucson political rally, a New York civic center, an Aurora movie theatre, an Orlando nightclub and a Texas military base.

We have learned that platitudes do not stop gun violence.

We must act.

VOTE

Gun control has become a major theme for many campaigns, elect candidates who recognize gun violence as a priority;

SUPPORT

Most Americans support common-sense reform and robust enforcement of our current laws, we must hold our elected officials accountable to legislate accordingly;

ENGAGE

Learn about the work being done by these organizations:

- › The Trace – an independent, non-partisan, non-profit newsroom focused on gun violence
- › Every Town for Gun Safety – activists working at the national and community level for gun safety
- › Coalition to Stop Gun Violence – non-profit that develops policy and advocates for gun violence prevention
- › Brady Campaign – oldest gun violence prevention organization, working to end our gun violence epidemic
- › Giffords Law Center to Prevent Gun Violence – a national law center developing legal efforts to prevent gun violence

We can address this epidemic with courage and wisdom.
Together, we will regain safety in our communities.
